

Going green pays!

14 Fayette County public schools recently competed in the 2007 U.S. Mayors' Cans for Cash aluminum beverage can recycling contest. The competition challenged participating schools to collect the most cans possible over a month-long period. Schools that brought in the most cans per student won cash prizes.

Lexington Day Treatment Center finished third in the contest and won $1,250. Ashland Elementary received $750 for their efforts.

The contest was coordinated locally by The Bluegrass Partnership for a Green Community, Bluegrass PRIDE and other community partners.

Other participating schools were:

Athens-Chilesburg Elementary

Bryan Station High

Glendover Elementary

Harrison Elementary

Henry Clay High

Jessie Clark Middle

Leestown Middle

Maxwell Elementary

Millcreek Elementary

Northern Elementary

Southern Middle

Tates Creek Elementary
