

Leestown gets a new principal

Jennifer Kendall will take over July 1 as principal at Leestown Middle School.

“The role of principal is challenging, but Leestown Middle has wonderful students who are full of potential and an exceptional staff. I plan to build on the momentum that the staff has created under the leadership of Ms. Debbie Tronzo (the interim principal),” said Kendall, who has been associate principal at Tates Creek Middle School for two years.

Kendall, who has 10 years experience in this district, previously was the reading specialist and academic dean at Paul Laurence Dunbar High School; she also taught at Bryan Station High School.

She earned a bachelor’s degree in special education and English language arts from Eastern Kentucky University and a master’s in reading and writing from the University of Kentucky; her Rank 1 is in educational leadership from UK.
