

On Friday April 18, long after most people have gone home to enjoy a restful weekend with their families, Lois Babb, the assessment coordinator at Rosa Parks Elementary, waited patiently for her test materials to arrive so that all students would have the materials they needed first thing on Monday morning. The materials did not arrive until 8:30 that evening. As is the case with many BAC's, she also spent part of her weekend preparing the materials for distribution on Monday.
