

Young Achievers honors dozens of students

The Young Achievers program recognized more than three dozen Fayette County elementary and middle school students during the 2007-08 academic year, awarding them each a certificate and a $50 U.S. savings bond from Holifield Photography.

The students were nominated by their principals, guidance counselors or teachers in the spring of their fourth- or seventh-grade year. The winners' photographs and brief bios were displayed at Fayette Mall and at their schools this past spring and summer.

Holifield Photography sponsors Young Achievers in cooperation with the nonprofit International Leadership Network. The program honors kids who serve as positive role models, demonstrate exceptional achievement in a variety of areas, exhibit good citizenship, and maintain satisfactory grade and attendance records.
