

Robert May, a custodian at Deep Springs Elementary, is one of those people that you can always count on. I have never met a person so dedicated to his job and ensuring each of us here at Deep Springs has everything that we need and the building is always clean and taken care of. I discovered one recent weekend that Robert went above and beyond his call of duty. As we all know, the recent snow and ice were very hazardous. Robert spent many hours outside trying to keep our campus as safe as possible. To add to this, though, Robert brought his wife and children in on a Sunday while the weather was a little warmer to get a head start on shoveling snow and ice so that he could spend more time inside the building Monday doing his regular work.
