

Lafayette student wins visual arts contest

Cory Cameron of Lafayette High School won the 2009 Blue Grass Trust for Historic Preservation's visual arts contest. Libby Guth, also from Lafayette, took third place.

The annual competition is open to high school students in Fayette, Jessamine, Clark, Bourbon, Scott and Woodford counties. Each entry must be a representation of a historic structure in one of the participating counties. Students may select any view of, or detail from, the structure of their choice. They also may choose any media for their project.

Honorable mention awards went to Hayley Hawkins and Dianna Hartman of Lafayette High School; and Yumiko Nishimoto, Dana Rogers, Travis Keene and Sophia Brown, all of Henry Clay High School.

The arts exhibit was featured at the Blue Grass Trust Antiques & Garden Show at Keeneland.