

Kudos

To the district's Office of Career and Technical Education, which has secured $60,000 in Engineering Pipeline Sustainability Grants for Bryan Station, Henry Clay, Lafayette and Tates Creek high schools. The money will help them progress toward certification as Project Lead the Way sites. PLTW's premier high school program, Pathway To Engineering, is a four-year course of study integrated into the students' core curriculum. The grants, which will be disbursed during the next two years, will cover additional curriculum materials, equipment and teacher training.
